DESCRIPTION

A convenient and enjoyable tour for people with special needs to the Pyramids of Giza and Saqqara, featuring a wonderful drive

Now you can explore the only remaining structure from the seven ancient wonders of the world, the Pyramid of Cheops, also known as Khufu to the ancient Egyptians, located within the Giza Necropolis.

This wonderful, wheelchair-accessible tour of the Giza Pyramids and the Sphinx offers visitors the chance to learn interesting facts about ancient Egyptian history. You will also gain insight into the religious beliefs of ancient Egyptians, as you will see how important religion was to them. They believed in the concept of resurrection, which is why they built such massive structures to preserve the names of their kings and rulers, whom they regarded as semi-gods.

You can gain further knowledge about Egypt by visiting the Roman Fortress of Babylon in Cairo.

This visit offers a unique experience that feels like stepping back in time, allowing you to enjoy a fun and engaging journey through history.

ITINERARY

DAY 1

Wheelchair Accessible Giza & Saqqara Tour with Motor Ride

Your guide will meet you at your hotel in Cairo in a wheelchair-accessible, air-conditioned vehicle. The day starts at the Pyramids of Giza, seeing the pyramids of Khufu, Khafre, and Menkaure, along with the Great Sphinx, all accessible from outside the complex. From there, you'll continue to Saqqara to explore the Step Pyramid of Djoser, considered the earliest large-scale stone structure of its kind. Along the way, you'll enjoy a motorized golf-cart-style ride around the site, making it easier to take in the scale of the pyramids without the walk. At the end of the day, you'll be returned to your hotel.
