DESCRIPTION

Enjoy a private wheelchair-accessible tour to Memphis, Saqqara, and the Dahshur archaeological site. Visit Memphis, which was founded by King Narmer and is where the two kingdoms of Egypt were united 5000 years ago, marking the start of Egypt's history with the 1st dynasty. The city served as the capital of Egypt during the Old Kingdom era. Next, head to Saqqara, home to the very first stone building ever constructed, the Step Pyramid of King Djoser.

Visiting the Meidum Pyramid offers a deep insight into Egypt's history.

It's like taking a journey back in time, and exploring it is a fascinating and enjoyable experience.

The Meidum Pyramid was built during the 3rd dynasty by Imhotep, who was not only an architect but also held many important titles and was highly respected.

His reputation led to him being worshipped in the ancient Egyptian religion. The tour concludes with a visit to the Red Pyramid and the Bent Pyramid of King Snefru in Dahshur, located near Cairo.
