DESCRIPTION

A convenient and enjoyable tour for people with special needs to the Pyramids of Giza and Saqqara, featuring a wonderful drive

Now you can explore the only remaining structure from the seven ancient wonders of the world, the Pyramid of Cheops, also known as Khufu to the ancient Egyptians, located within the Giza Necropolis.

This wonderful, wheelchair-accessible tour of the Giza Pyramids and the Sphinx offers visitors the chance to learn interesting facts about ancient Egyptian history. You will also gain insight into the religious beliefs of ancient Egyptians, as you will see how important religion was to them. They believed in the concept of resurrection, which is why they built such massive structures to preserve the names of their kings and rulers, whom they regarded as semi-gods.

You can gain further knowledge about Egypt by visiting the Roman Fortress of Babylon in Cairo.

This visit offers a unique experience that feels like stepping back in time, allowing you to enjoy a fun and engaging journey through history.
